1. Since July 1947 the Central Committee of the PPR (Polish Workers Party) has been discussing schemes for the abandonment of the Government's elaborate and unsuccessful policy of "co-operative land settlement" in Polish administered Germany. Instead, the PPR is considering the substitution of a system of collective farming following the Soviet plan and is propagandizing for such a change.
2. Model farms are to be organized first by Jewish members of the Komitety Produktywizacji (Production Committees) and by demobilized Soviet soldiers, who are to be settled on some of the landed estates which, until now, have been run by the Soviet Army.

Comments: [redacted] an increasing number of Russian nationals have been settling in Polish administered Germany since August 1947. [redacted]
